Kennedy, Johnson In Strategy Talks

Joined at Palm Beach by
Other Democratic Leaders

BY MARVIN ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson today started strategy talks on the new administration's legislative program.

They met at breakfast at Kennedy's ocean-front home shortly after Johnson flew in from his home state of Texas.

They will be joined here by Democratic congressional leaders — House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, slated to succeed Johnson next month as senate majority leader.

Kennedy, his 10-member cabinet now selected, is concentrating now on preparation of the New Frontier blueprint for the laws and the budget plans which he will send to the 87th Congress shortly after his inauguration Jan. 20.

Johnson, accompanied by his wife, Ladybird, arrived aboard his private twin-engine plane at 7:05 a. m. EST. The plane is named the Lucy B after one of their daughters.

Pleased With Cabinet

The Johnsons were still asleep when the plane taxied to a halt. They did not depart until a couple of minutes before 8 a. m.

At the foot of the ramp, Johnson told newsmen that he is looking forward "in eager anticipation to this meeting and to the challenges which face us."

Asked his opinion of the Kennedy cabinet completed last Saturday, Johnson said:

"I think Senator Kennedy made some very fine selections. It is with his brother unconscious in a trench a group of men who will work well together."

"I am very pleased by the extent of experience and youth I think we are off to a very fine start."

Kennedy headquarters said Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass., the House floor leader, had been invited but was unable to attend because of business in his state.

In addition to discussion of the new administration's budget plans, Kennedy and the two from the Capitol will be talking over

Christmas Love Stories Told In New Series

Christmas is a story of loves the love between Mary and Joseph and the love of God.

These intertwining love stories form the basis of a new series of five articles by George Cornell, award-winning religion writer.

In it, Cornell recounts in warmly human and spiritual terms the story of Mary and Joseph, from the time of their betrothal, through the agonizing times of doubt while Mary is with child, to the birth of the Christ child.

The first part of this moving Christmas story is on page D-8 of tonight's Post-Crescent.

Nelson Says
Hike Needed
In Tax Rate

Governor Has No Idea How to Raise Money for 1961-63

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today a "substantial" tax increase will be needed to meet Wisconsin's 1961-63 revenue needs but that he has no "pre-determined" ideas on how to raise the money.

The chief executive's remark replied to newsmen's questions on his reaction to the final report of a citizens' commission on tax revision.

The 10-member group's report adopted Friday night by a vote of 10-1, recommends that Wisconsin enact a two per cent sales tax and boost income tax rates to meet future financial requirements.

No Full Study

Nelson said he had not yet given the report a "comprehensive" study and that he would decline to answer specific questions on the two revenue proposals until he has read his recommendations to the Legislature.

The recommendations, he said, would not necessarily be a part of the budget message which the Legislature is scheduled to receive on or before Feb. 1.

Nelson said a study of the commission's report was not required, however, to tell it isn't possible to avoid a larger budget and a

Investigators Plan Query Into Crash

Team to Talk To 10 Who Saw Disaster

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teams of federal investigators planned intensive questioning today of at least 10 persons who claim they actually saw Friday's airship collision—worst in an year.

Other investigators checked the possibility that the United Airlines DC-8 jet involved had overshot the point at which it was to begin flying a rectangular holding pattern prior to its intended landing at Idlewild Airport.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board pressed its inquiry, the exact total of dead still could not be determined.

All 126 persons on the jet and on the plane that collided with it, a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation, were killed. Five other persons were known to have perished on the ground in Brooklyn where the jet plane crashed and at least two more were missing and probably dead.

Total Fluctuated

The total of 126 had fluctuated because police were unable to learn the whereabouts of others believed to be victims of the buildings smashed and burned by the jet plane. In at least one case a man thought missing in the crash turned out to have recently moved from the address without his neighbors' knowledge.

While the inquiry moved ahead in New York, a flight recorder recovered from the jet in Brooklyn was on its way to its manufacturer in California. There it will be given a detailed analysis under CAB supervision.

CAB agents were shown where residents of Staten Island and Brooklyn first reported that they had seen the planes collide Friday morning.

Ceiling 600 Feet

Weather experts had testified that the ceiling at the time was no more than 600 feet, and ground visibility was about a mile. Both airplanes were supposed to have been flying at 5,000 feet.

But there was the possibility of U. S. Army private, previously not listed among the dead, was hitchhiking a ride to London aboard the plane and was killed in the crash. He was Pfc. Elvin I. Sherman, 20, of Linden, N. J.

The CAB inspectors also were looking into the possibility that the jet, inbound from Chicago, never entered the racetrack-shaped holding pattern it had been instructed to follow.

The jet and the Constellation were both flying on instruments. Britain, and both were supposed to circle in their respective holding patterns until it was their turn to lead the jet at Idlewild, the TWA aircraft which wound through potholes at La Guardia. The patterns were spaced miles apart.

Failure of the jet to turn into its holding pattern, however, would have brought it on a straight line into the Staten Island area where investigators believe the collision occurred. The Constellation's pattern was partly over Staten Island.

Insurance experts estimated that awards resulting from the crash might top $15 million.

Maid Held In Slaying Of Socialite

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Police today held a maid and her family for questioning in the slaying of a Shreveport socialite.

The body of Mrs. W. H. Booth, 36, mother of two grown children, was found Sunday half submerged in a pool of water in a dense wood near Highway 104, four miles south of the city.

Her husband, a wealthy furniture merchant, reported her missing. An hour later her blood-spattered car was found in the parking lot.

Officers said it had not been determined whether she was still alive when she apparently was dragged from a car near a lane through a dense wood near Highway 104, four miles south of the city.

Mrs. Booth's maid, Carolyn Dixon, 24, her husband, Ben Dixon, 41, and their three boys, Leon, 21, Bert, 19, and Glen, 16, were held for questioning. The maid had been employed by the Booths for a number of years.

Orchestra Leader Injured in Crash

CARCASSONNE, France (AP)—Roger Brassens, 37, conductor of the Johannesburg Symphony Orchestra, was seriously injured today when the car he was driving suddenly ran into an icy pavement and crashed rear first.

Brassens' wife, their three children and his mother and father also were injured critically.

Police Fear Increase in German Dead

48 Charred Bodies Taken From Crash Of Plane in Munich

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Police today feared an increase in the death toll of the air disaster that plunged this gay Bavarian capital into mourning over the weekend.

A total of 41 persons were known to have been killed after a U. S. Air Force transport plunged into a downtown street Saturday, exploded in flames and turned a crowded street car into a blazing mass of twisted wreckage.

Forty-eight charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage and another victim died in a hospital.

The condition of the bodies made identification difficult. Police appealed to all Munich families to report if any relatives had failed to return home.

Hitchhiked Ride

It was learned Sunday that a hitchhiker in the clouds in the area of the collision. Two four-man CAB teams planned to question between 10 and 15 others who also reported seeing the collision.

The CAB inspectors also were looking into the possibility that the jet, inbound from Chicago, never entered the racetrack-shaped holding pattern it had been instructed to follow.

The jet and the Constellation were both flying on instruments. Britain, and both were supposed to circle in their respective holding patterns until it was their turn to lead the jet at Idlewild, the TWA aircraft which wound through potholes at La Guardia. The patterns were spaced miles apart.

Failure of the jet to turn into its holding pattern, however, would have brought it on a straight line into the Staten Island area where investigators believe the collision occurred. The Constellation's pattern was partly over Staten Island.

Insurance experts estimated that awards resulting from the crash might top $15 million.

New Electric Engines Returned to Factory

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—British Railways suddenly withdrew their sleek six-week-old electric trains from Glasgow's suburban lines Sunday and announced the old steam engines which have been running for generations would be put back in service.

The takeoff from Munich airport was smooth. At the controls were Maj. John K. Connery of Auburn, Ala., the pilot and father of one of the boys aboard, and Capt. Louis B. Nelson of Wake, Va., copilot.

After flying about five miles, Capt. Connery radioed the airport tower: "I'm having engine trouble. Returning to the field."

About a minute later the plane stalled into the 325-foot-high steeple of St. Paul's church and hands.

Then crashed 700 yards away in a street filled with Christmas shoppers.

Proposed Plan

Five U. S. nuclear submarines each armed with 16 Polaris missiles tipped with nuclear warheads, would be placed under joint North Atlantic command providing the Allies bought an additional 100 missiles costing about $1 million each.

These additional 100 missiles

Sacrifice for Duty

President-Elect Kennedy's choice of Robert S. McNamara for Secretary of Defense appears to follow the example set by President Eisenhower in his appointment of Charles E. Wilson to the same position.

The Wilson appointment was a good one and there is every reason to believe that the McNamara appointment also will be successful.

Both of these men were called upon to make tremendous financial sacrifices in order to qualify for the position. Wilson, who had been head of General Motors had large holdings in his company's stock and since the Defense Department did business with General Motors on a vast scale he was obliged to sell his shares. His loss ran into millions. Mr. McNamara, in accepting this appointment has agreed to sell 24,250 shares of Ford stock which he owns and to give up an option on 20,000 additional shares. Furthermore, he leaves a $40,000 job to accept the $25,000 paid by the government. He estimates that he will forego profits of approximately $30,000.000 during the next three or four years. Of course his loss will be less than the amount mentioned by the amount of income taxes he would be required to pay. Nevertheless, he is accepting a tremendous loss so that he will be able to make a contribution to government.

If one were to consider such proposal as an abstract matter in a civics class, it is probable the conclusion would be that asking such a sacrifice would make it impossible for the government to get the high quality of men required to head the defense department. Nevertheless, the experience of the government during the past eight years has indicated that when good men are needed they will respond to the cause even though they may be obliged to make unbelievable personal sacrifices.

Mr. Wilson had a difficult time in the Defense Department. As an outspoken industrial leader he seemed a little out of place among the political figures in government and often was severely criticized and occasionally ridiculed for his stands. Mr. McNamara appears to have more understanding of the political requirements of this job than Mr. Wilson did. But whether he does or not, he is entitled to the profound respect of the people for his courage and appreciation of requirements of citizenship.

Care for the Aged Under the New Law

The federal bill signed by President Eisenhower last September, putting into effect a plan to provide medical care for the aged, came under heavy fire from Democratic liberals during the presidential campaign.

The plan has been strongly defended by the American Medical Association and it found other defenders among the Republican candidates for office last fall. Since the election ended in a virtual tie, it is a little difficult to determine what was the public view on the matter. Certainly it was not the important issue the Democrats in Congress thought it to be when they were fighting hard to have medical care provided for under Social Security.

The American Medical Association's Council on Medical Service recently held a conference on a federal-state medical care program for the aged. The new medical care law, known as Public Law 86-778, was described at this meeting as the first piece of legislation to permit the development of a sound system of medical care for the aged. It was pointed out that the new law permits meeting of the areas of medical need and is locally administered and consistent with the proper quality control of health services.

Since the matter was a subject of considerable debate in the recent campaign, it may be of interest to note just how the American Medical Association looks upon the new law.

C. Joseph Stetler, director of the AMA legal and socio-economic division, offered a comparison of the relative merits and demerits of Public Law 86-778 and the Forand bill which was defeated in Congress. Dr. Stetler said:

"Under the new law, medical care is authorized for any person over 65 who needs help."

"Under the Forand bill medical care would be provided regardless of need but to only 60 per cent of the persons over 65.

"Under the new law any type of care can be provided as decided by the state."

"Under the Forand bill only hospitalization, nurses' home care, and some surgical care could be authorized."

Explosions in Cuba

The rash of bombings in Cuba appear to be minor in immediate destructive effect. But they represent the growing antagonism toward Fidel Castro and his Communist friends. No longer are the complaints and signs of violence coming only from the dispossessed landowners or the wealthy idealists. Labor union members, farmers and soldiers are protesting and defecting.

One newswriter quotes a Havana lawyer as insisting that there are ten thousand active insurgents ready to rise against the Castro regime when the word is given. The same underground leader says that the insurgents in the hills have not been wiped out as claimed by Castro but are developing a terroristic ritual by hanging Castro militiamen who happen to be caught alone. Rebels against Castro employed by the government-operated electrical company were responsible for knocking out a power circuit in Havana in recent weeks.

Despite the increasingly rapid press censorship, defectors continue to make the news. Castro's first agriculture minister now is under house arrest. Three Cuban representatives in the United States have been dismissed. The brother of the education minister fled to Venezuela. Six people tried to take over a Cuban airliner for a flight to Florida but they were captured and four of them summarily shot.

Some observers hopefully say that the atmosphere is just like that of November, 1958, previous to Batista's downfall. But Castro is closer to his own revolutionary days than was Batista. He can more ably recognize the signs. But the increasing severity of punishments — the reports of dungeons, executions and imprisonment of families of defectors — indicates that he is trying the same solution which failed for Batista.

It is heartening to know that a good percentage of the Cuban people have awakened to the falsity of the Castro government. Only by force can Castro hang on and even that may not be strong enough.

But nothing happened. The election passed. Still no invasion. It became obvious that tension had to be relieved. So, now the Cuban leader has explained. The United States abandoned its plan to invade, he said, for two reasons: Cuba's military preparedness had discouraged the invaders. World opinion supported Cuba, and the US did not wish to alienate the world.

So, for the moment at least, invasion hysteria seems to have calmed in Havana, although more sensational charges may be expected.

Now Castro's problem is to find a purpose for Cuba's large militia and the nation's tremendous stockpile of arms. That remains a puzzle.

Perhaps you haven't been worrying about when the United States would invade Cuba. But anyone who has been concerned can now relax. Fidel Castro has called off the Yankee invasion.

Cubans must arm themselves to defend the fatherland. And Cubans have been arming themselves, including some 200,000 in the civilian militia.

As the election drew near, the regime intensified its attacks. Some Cubans accused the Republicans of a plan to stage an invasion in order to win votes. Tension mounted. Cubans naturally were asking each other when the Yanquis would come.

An 'Average Hunter' Offers His Observation on Deer Hunting

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In a sense, this letter had its beginning about a year ago while participating in and observing the results of the party permit system during the 1959 deer season. . . . The mental composition took form on the morning of the third day of this season while sitting on my stand. By then I was thoroughly convinced that the third successive "liberal" season was a truly bad mistake and that the "known" size of the deer herd, which was and is an implication of excessive numbers, was a fact accepted by only some members of the Game Management Division and perhaps a few others in the state.

There have been many attempts to charge the American Medical Association members with a desire to protect their own business at the expense of the aged and the needy. These charges have been refuted many times but the refutation was well presented again by Wesley W. Hall, M. D., of Reno, Nevada, a member of the AMA committee on indigent care. He asserted that as far back as 1938 the AMA house of delegates had stated its position in these words: "Complete medical care of the indigent is a responsibility of the community and the medical and allied professions and that such care should be organized by local governmental units and supported by tax funds."

He said that only last June the AMA house of delegates had adopted a statement of policy "recognizing the sequence of responsibility for medical care: First, the individual, himself and his family; then, if he cannot pay for needed care, the community, and local and state government. Finally, if all other levels cannot meet this cost, federal responsibility to aid in payment is recognized — only through and in conjunction with these lower levels of government."

The argument in this field is not whether the public has responsibility for the needy but as to how the needs should be met.

On the various natural deer stands even without snow I'm even ready to claim that the average hunter has a moderate amount of intelligence and might even begin to suspect about now that perhaps some effort has been made at brainwashing.

So let's shoot does if and when we have to, under a reasonable county controlled plan but not promiscuously to the point where our sons may have to set a deer farm or zoo to find out what a whitetail looks like.

Code Covers Problem Of Profane Language

From The Decorah (Iowa) Journal

The use of profanity or obscene language does not indicate superior strength, intelligence or maturity. On the contrary, the use of such language usually indicates mental immaturity.

It also displays a lack of vocabulary as well as a disregard for the feelings of others.

Anyone who has made a mistake and has been "chewed out" by an expert will attest to the effectiveness of the English language when used properly. Good language is far more effective than profanity.

Too many times foul language is thought to be a sign of "mannishness." Its constant usage, which is intended to show that "he's one of the boys," often develops into a habit that proves embarrassing to one's self and his listeners.

The following "Code of the Uncouth" was printed in a naval command newsletter and covers the problem adequately. It would do well to think about the ten items and remember their significance.

Higher Education Costs Not Backed by People, Nelson Says

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The most revealing of Gov. Nelson's interpolations during the long dreary series of spending appeals during the last three weeks came near the end of the hopeful procession of supplicants.

Letting down his hair, as the slang phrase would have it, the governor told the collected hierarchy of the state higher education system that they have no chance whatever of getting the money they want in the current climate of Wisconsin political opinion.

"Sell the taxpayer down in the ranks," he said, in effect. "And I'll go along. You're persuading me," he was saying. "But I cannot give you what you ask until the people will back me up."

The governor was revealing what is obviously a painful frustration. He is ideologically and otherwise committed to a liberal and strong higher education program. Most of his closest friends, some of his key advisors, are members of the university community. He also is convinced by the logistics of the matter, as he has made clear in a hundred public speeches lately. If the state is going to continue its traditional policies on admissions to universities and colleges, and its traditional policies on the new charges to the student beneficiaries, the higher the rate of applications and the booming birth rate make it perfectly obvious that fiscal pairs of historic dimensions will result.

tax increase, and that the increase will be substantial."

Welfare Department requests for new workers to staff institutions that will be ready for service in the coming biennium are enough to dictate higher revenue needs, he said, adding that this was only one area in which money outlays would have to be boosted.

Pleased With Job

The governor said he was pleased with the "conscientious and dedicated job" of the commission he created 18 months ago.

"It's the most comprehensive tax study ever made in the state," he said.

The chief executive said the task now facing his administration and the Republican majority controlling both legislative houses is one of "educating the public to what's needed."

He said this normally "slow process" could be speeded if the Republican leadership "will talk constructively about the problem."

If the public interpretation of the commission's report is that this is just another tax raising bill we'll get nothing," Nelson said.

Theory Sound

The governor did say that the theory behind a new tax distribution system recommended in the report is "sound," and that he thought it could be operated effectively regardless of the tax raising device used to supply funds.

The proposed distribution system calls for scrapping Wisconsin's 35-year-old system of sharing incomes and utility taxes with municipalities.

It would distribute state-collected revenue to localities as equalized aids, using a $190 million fund as the source of supply.

Half of the fund's amount would be paid out under a formula based on 40 per cent of the full value of a community's taxable property, 40 per cent on net taxable income and 20 per cent on population.

The equalizing feature would see the remaining $95 million allotted in larger amounts to communities with the highest tax rates, thus eliminating some gross disparities the commission said existed in current local mill levies.

At least 269 votes are needed to win.

Byrd was not a candidate, but he is now the choice of 6 of Alabama's 11 Democratic electors and all of Mississippi's 8. The 14 ran unpledged on Nov. 8.

Kennedy won the popular vote in the closest presidential race in 76 years. He carried 23 states for a total national margin of about 113,000 votes. Nixon won 26 states.

Unpledged electors carried Mississippi.

But Kennedy's electoral margin was a comfortable 34 more than needed of the votes that decide an election. Winner of a state's popular vote, even if the margin is a single vote, gets that state's entire electoral vote. There are exceptions. In Alabama, for example, the Democratic Party did not put up a full slate of electors pledged to Kennedy this year. Instead, the Democratic slate of 11 electors had six unpledged and five pledged to Kennedy.

Seek to Organize Regional Units For Natural Resource Management

Proposal Will Come Up Before State Legislature, Endorsed by Committee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Kennedy Made Wise Choices For Cabinet

Appointment of Robert May be Cause for Criticism

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The cabinet gives advice. It doesn't run the government. If there's a man of strong personality in the presidency with opinions of his own.

The question of whether President-elect Kennedy has appointed a good cabinet depends for an answer upon what kind of chief executive he is going to make.

Few people except his intimates know whether Mr. Kennedy follows the advice of experts or forms his own conclusions. Opinions differ on this point, the president-elect is relatively inexperienced in governmental operations as such. So he has made a wise decision in gathering to his side a number of able men.

Before Warren Harding was inaugurated President in 1921, he had promised the nation he would pick for his cabinet the "best minds." He did get some—among them, as secretary of state, Charles Evans Hughes, who later became chief justice. Today it might be said that Mr. Kennedy has at least tried to get "bright men." In this category can be put the new secretary of state, Dean Rusk. The same is true of the choices for secretary of the treasury, Douglas Dillon, and for attorney general, Robert Kennedy.

Evaluates Cabinet

Abraham Ribicoff is regarded in Connecticut as an able governor, and is being talked of as likely to be appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court some day. The new secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, is reputed to be aggressive and energetic. The new secretary of agriculture, Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota, always has been in the thick of the farm—policy controversy. Arthur Goldberg, the new secretary of labor, is regarded as an astute lawyer. Luther Hodges, who is to be secretary of commerce, is an of the phenomenal young men of America with a business back-ground. He knows his ground, but it remains to be seen whether he will offset in cabinet well liked. He served as staff councils Mr. Goldberg's pro-Union member and as counsel for the labor-union

Democrat minority of the Senate viewpoint. The latter was reponsible for much of the strategy headed by the late Sen. Joe Mc-

Carthy and more recently as chief general counsel of the Steelworkers

Union. He is also special counsel of the AFL-CIO.

The new secretary of the interior, Stewart Udall, who has served day is whether the President-elect

Arizona in Congress, is given high consideration political reward more important than any other factor in deciding whether to choose his brother for attorney general. The often—exploited concept of this office is that it should go to a man prominent in the legal profession who can impress the Supreme Court of the United States and judges generally because of an outstanding record in the law. It has not been explained why Gov. Ribicoff was not selected for the post of attorney general instead of that of secretary of health, education and welfare.

Political Criticism

Politically, criticism naturally arises whenever any president appointed his own brother to the cabinet post, the argument being that family interest is alleged to be above the national interest.

For the immediate future this is the type of criticism may be lost in the excitement of the new administration, but eventually it will recur, especially since every act of the Department of Justice may be construed as having a political motivation. Such criticism will to some extent be offset by a re-memder that Herbert Brownell, Jr.,

Your Problems

Compulsive Talker Solves Problem by Buying Parakeet

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I felt terribly sorry for the woman who signed herself "Talk Talk Talk." I am also a compulsive talker and I'm alone a great deal. I know the agony she must suffer.

I went to a doctor with this problem and his advice may have saved my sanity. He told was perfect companion because evening and has even dropped over to my apartment on Saturday and Sundays.

My little parakeet is a joy to me and I've taught him many words. Please print this letter to the benefit of "Talk Talk Talk" and others who need a listener.—Same Boat

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Teenagers often write to you about having crushes on teachers. This is from a male high school teacher who needs advice on the same subject.

I'm in the music department, it for several hours a day. The unmarred, fairly attractive and doctor told me that what I needed was to get the words out—any year-old girl comes to my class words. Just the sound of my voice room every day after school. She would be therapeutic. The bird phones me at home almost every was perfect companion because evening and has even dropped over to my apartment on Saturday and Sundays.

I'm aware the girl is sensitive and I've taught him many words. Please print this letter to the benefit of "Talk Talk Talk" and others who need a listener.—Same Boat

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Explain to the girl that she places herself in a bad light by hanging around, and that she could get you into trouble with her innocent friendliness. Suggest that she not come to your classroom after school unless she brings a friend, and make it plain that she is not to phone you at home or come to visit you—ever. "Dropping in" is inexcusable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like your opinion on a matter that disturbs me greatly.

My first name is William. Everyone calls me Bill. We have four children. My wife refers to me as "Bill" when she talks to the children and I don't like it. This is how she does it. She says, "Go tell Bill dinner is ready." Or, "Ask Bill to help you with your algebra lesson." She never says "Your Dad."

Our three-year-old came up to me yesterday and asked if I was Bill. This burned me up because I've asked my wife a hundred times to refer to me as "Dad" when talking to the kids. Her an-white, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, Green Bay, brother Charles White, Green Bay, at 5 of the bridegroom, shared ushering duties.

The Rev. Roger Wentz officiated at the double ring candle-light ceremony at Emmanuel United Church of Christ, Kaukauna. Miss Marjorie White, Green Bay, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Miss Rose Ann Kobal, Appleton, was bridesmaid.

Best man was James Kramer, Kaukauna, brother of the bride. Father of the bride was always "Your name is Bill."

Am I wrong to want my children to call me Dad? Why is she so stubborn about this? Please give me the straight goods.—Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful: If you want your children to call you Dad your wife should not encourage them to call you Bill. If she's obstinate, simply tell your kids that you don't answer to Bill—and to call you Dad. Why does she do this? I suspect it's her way of registering hostility toward you for reasons she is not able to articulate. Ask her what's bothering her. Something is bugging inside.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for "Drinking," enclosing with your request twenty cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ALL IN THE EAR!

Sheinwold Suit Void Indicated By Bidding

You usually need 33 points for a slam, using the familiar count of four points for each ace, three supporting hand has a void or singleton in the right spot. When the bidding began North couldn't tell whether his shortness in clubs was an asset or a liability. The void wouldn't be much help if South had a strong club suit with very little side strength.

The picture changed a bit when South bid spades. Now there was a chance for slam if South had high cards in North's three suits. North couldn't decide this for himself: he could only describe his own hand and leave the next move to South.

North showed extreme shortness in clubs by bidding the other three suits with one jump bid on the way. Hearts had already been bid, so North jumped to three diamonds at his second turn. His next step was to show spade support.

Sees Picture

South saw the picture after his partner's third bid. It was clear that all of South's high cards were useful and that the weakness in clubs was no handicap. He could afford to make a slam try for a king, two for a queen and one for a jack. This requirement may, however, be reduced if the five diamonds or five hearts instead of four no trump with the same final result. The important thing was to understand North's bidding and make a slam try.

Exchange South's clubs and spades, and he wouldn't be at all eager to try for a slam. His club strength would then be wasted, and he would know it.

As the cards were actually dealt, South had no trouble making the slam. He won the first trump, cashed the top hearts, and ruffed a heart. He reached dummy with a diamond, ruffed another heart, and then drew trumps. But for the bad diamond break, South would have made all 13 tricks.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You told S-K 10 9 7, H-A 8 7 3 2, D-K Q 10 6, C-None. What do you say?

Answer Bid two hearts. You expect to bid diamonds next, after which you will show the spade support. If all goes well you can show your strength and the club shortness at the same time.

Serve Jellied Chicken for Sunday Night Buffet Treat

For a Sunday night buffet, slice a cooled or caned mold and make from chicken. At serving time garnish the unroasted jellied chicken with an abundance of minced parsley and some lemon slices.

Give Outfit Gay Touch

SEAMS
TO ME
By Patricia Scott

This is a busy week for all. Now slide a long bobby pin and there's little time for sewing through the thread tie and clip to

But New Year's Eve is just a few days away, so check your outfit for the night. Is it complete? Does your dress need a pick-up, your hair a gay touch? Will you look as beautiful when you walk in the door as you will after Pat Scott you take off your coat?

Here are a few ideas for accessories you can make in an hour or less.

Fringed silk brocade sash: The finished sash is 2 inches wide and as long as your waistline measurement plus 22 inches. Use a strip of brocade 4 1/2 inches wide, fold in half lengthwise, right sides together. Stitch half inch seam on open side, starting 1 1/2 inches from one end and ending the same distance from the other. Also leave a 2 inch opening in the center for ready-to-wear sizes.

Size 13 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35 inch material for bodice and skirt, 1/2 yard of 35 inch material for lining. To order Pattern No. N-1227, state size, send $1.00. Add 25c for first class postage, tax and special handling. Book No. 18 available at $1.00 each.

Hang Yule Stocking With Care

Hanging your stocking by the fireplace may be a Christmas ritual but it's a dangerous practice, the International Association of Fire Chiefs warned today.

And while the Fire Chiefs don't know off-hand of any such fires having been started that way in recent years, they're afraid they might. So, they plead, do be careful about that custom St. Nicholas started. Remember the story?

Secret Journeys

Not only was St. Nicholas the Bishop of Mithra in Asia Minor but he also was rich and he loved to make mysterious journeys bearing secret gifts to the poor. For a long time his identity remained hidden. Then one day he was caught with a sack of gifts

It seems, he had gone to visit a poor old nobleman and found him sleeping by the fireplace. So he climbed to the roof and dropped down the chimney, thinking it would fall on the hearth at the nobleman's feet. Instead it fell into a stocking left hanging there by the daughter. Lucky gal! And it was she, they say, who caught him climbing down from the roof and gave the whole story to the press!

Church Festival

Subsequently the anniversary of St. Nicholas' death in 1087 became a church festival. In time his name became corrupted to Santa Claus and associated with festivities of the Christmas season — with the tree, decorations, holly and mistletoe.

Children Can Make Yule Candy

Christmas means candy time in many homes. And for that "extra something" that comes from personal effort, this year try making your own supply of sweets for the holiday munching.

There's no trick to turning out attractive, tasty candy. These recipes need no cooking and are simple enough to let the children help, perhaps. Coconut mallow. Just dip marshmallows in slightly beaten egg white and roll them in white or tinted shredded coconut. They're colorful, too.

Or, try red and white harlequin balls. Beat 1 egg white, 2 tablespoons of evaporated milk, and 1 tablespoon of cold water until they're well blended. Then add

5 cups of sifted confectioners' sugar very slowly until the frosting is thick enough to knead. Divide the mixture, adding 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla to one-half and 1 drop of oil of cinnamon plus a few drops

China Sends Christmas Trims, Toys to Cuba

BY VICTOR RIESEL

Red stars will top the Christmas trees of Cuba this Yuletide season. Literally as well as politically.

The U.S. longshoremen want to stop this dead on the docks of Canada. In the past two weeks ILA National Organizer Teddy Gleason has been meeting quietly with a small band of anti-Castro Cuban labor leaders. These Cubans have guts. They're not exiles, or refugees. They go in and out of Cuba in a secrecy which would make the Scarlet Pimpernel turn pale with envy. One of the Cubans is a slim young fellow, he has been shot at by the Fidelistas in a New York restaurant.

Two weeks ago a heavily loaded freighter jammed with the cargo for the Christmas trade arrived from China in Santiago. The next day another vessel unloaded tons of cases for the gift trade in Havana. Those freighters belonged to our friends the Japanese. But, the Nippons are not alone among our allies now bolstering the government which nipped over a billion dollars from U.S. merchants, big and small.

There is little our government can do on the sea lanes. But there is much some of us can do. On some of the docks from which Cuban-bound freighters are loaded, These docks can be paralyzed.

ILA Plan's Boycott. That's exactly what the dock workers of the International Longshoremen's Association plan such political action.

Boycotted Russians — a boycott of the Canadian piers, at least those from which Some years ago the ILA practices of millions of dollars worth usually ruined the Russian fur of vital equipment is pouring into trade by refusing to unload Leningrad skins in New York Harbor.

More recently, they rejected about a third of our former Havana-bound trade in spare parts Marshall Tito's baggage. Were it and machinery. There apparently not for the State Department, the is little concern over the prestige longshoremen would refuse to unload which would rebound to the Com. load all cargo now being dumped.

U.S. properties no U.S. investment would be safe anywhere in Latin America. A precedent would have been set.

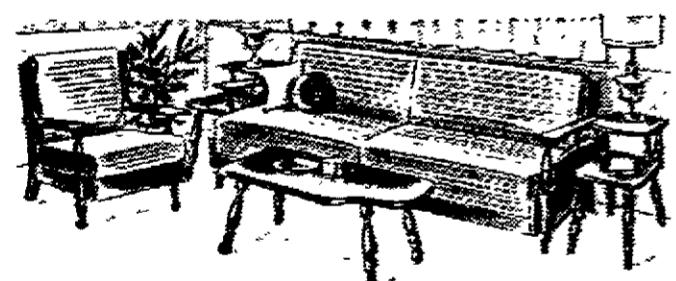

That is, if the Canadians can pick up the bill from Canada to wallopers of the International Longshoremen's Association plan such political action.

Your Money's Worth

Subsidy of Plane Research Favored

BY SYLVIA PORTER
What is the future of air transportation in the next 10 years? Try and government. The practical answer to this ability of such an airplane has question, I want been established.

Gen. Orval R. Cook, president of Aerospace Industries Association of America.

Q. Porter: How and how fast will I be flying 10 years from now?

A. Cook: That's an interesting and provocative question and the answer may be surprising.

The air traveler of 1970 will either be flying at twice or three times the speed of sound (1,300 to 2,000 miles per hour at 70,000 feet) of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics conducted a hearing of 600 miles per hour at transport. Consensus was that a 30,000 or 35,000 feet. Nothing in joint industry-government team between would make much sense. effort should develop such an airplane.

Big Program
The reason for this is that our modern jet transports today would be high, operating costs flying at not much below the would be commensurate with sound barrier, which varies with those for current jets, and travel the altitude of the plane. The and shipping rates would approximately big jump will be if and mate those of today.

Q: Why "if" commercial aircraft breaks the sound barrier? At this segment of the industry is on the threshold of its greatest opportunity.

A: To enable commercial aircraft to break the sound barrier. In the past, helicopter operations have been limited chiefly by the high cost of operation. Necessary and a huge expenditure of power — something in the order of a billion dollars.

The mere elevation of our speed levels past Mach 1, the speed of sound, about 600 miles per hour at present operating altitudes, would hardly be worth while. What would be worth while, however, would be Mach 2 and Mach 3, which would bring London within two or three hours of New York and would make travel between our coasts a simple jaunt.

This is in no sense crystal-gazing. The development of a super-

Resourceful Cadre Important to Nelson

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Gaylord Nelson on Tuesday will huddle with the chief Democratic figures in the new legislature, who will be responsible for making the fight for his 1961 legislative program in the Republican-controlled two legislative houses.

Whatever success Nelson's political program has in his second term will depend to some degree upon his own capacity for "salesmanship, but also to a considerable extent upon the parliamentary and Senate resourcefulness of the Democrats in the legislature.

The selection of the Democratic minority leaders, according to title, has not yet been completed. The minority caucuses may not be held until just before the convening of the legislature in January.

For the leadership cadre as a whole can be identified by the rosters of some of the returning veterans in earlier sessions.

It will include such men as Sen. Horace Wilkie of Madison and William Moser of Milwaukee, Leibed McPheron of Cudahy and Lynn Stalbaum of Racine, for the upper house. George Molinaro of Kenosha, the returning speaker; Robert Huber of West Allis, William Ward of New Richmond and Fred Ritter of Madison, for the assembly.

Moser is likely to be chosen the Democratic minority leader in the senate, with assistance from either Wilkie or Stalbaum.

Molinaro and Huber will share the quarterback responsibilities for the minority in the assembly, according to their previous experience and assignments.

Among the things the Republicans must decide is how much representation the minority Democrats will have on the key standing committees of both houses. There is a precedent of a sort in the policy of the Democrats in the 1959 assembly which they controlled. They permitted a proportionate representation of Republicans on the house committees, and will be in a plausible position to demand comparable treatment from the ruling Republicans this year.

If a proportional representation arrangement is settled upon, the assembly committees will be Republican by a five to four ratio, and in the senate the Republicans can claim a ratio of about two to one.

There were some light moments during the solemn deliberations in Gov. Nelson's office on the huge appropriation requests of the University of Wisconsin and the state colleges.

President E. H. Kleinpell of the state college at River Falls, speaking for the college heads, explained to the governor that he had been urged to use a new device in trying to explain his financing difficulties at his school. So he decided, he went on, to draw an analogy from that "fa-crowded room roared with merit.

Informed speculation at the statehouse has it that the internal fight about the selection of a new surgery department chairman at the University of Wisconsin Medical School will end in a deadlock and that one or the other of the principals in the dispute will ultimately resign.

They are Dr. Anthony Currieri, of the present surgery staff, who is the candidate of his department for the chairmanship, and Dr. John Z. Bowers, dean of the Medical School, who wants to hire an outsider.

The guessing is that UW President Conrad Elvehjem, to whom the University regents have tossed the ball, will arrange for the son to be appointed an interim department chairman from the predicted with a wild card — and sent staff until the bitter controversy is held by the legislature.

"The governor said, as the months

Monday, Dec. 19, 1960 Appleton Post-Crescent B10

Jerris Leonard, a new state senator from Milwaukee who has Polk county, for an example... had considerable experience through previous terms in the state legislature that will convene next month is that only one state senator will take his seat without any previous experience in the legislative process, while the relatively high number of 34 members of the assembly are wholly new to the legislative life.

Of the five "new" senators, four have had previous legislative experience in the assembly. Out of 49 "new" assemblymen, six served in previous terms. The Milwaukee turnover was especially high this year. Fourteen of the big 24 member Milwaukee delegation are freshmen. Milwaukee politicians rank legislative service below the city council and county board in attraction, mostly because of the higher salaries in the local offices.

New Books

Exploration, Development Of Midwest Told in Volume

The 300-year saga of the midwest, from the earliest settlers and the Indian wars to industrial development, has been compiled in an oversize illustrated volume called "Land of the Long Horizon."

This book, one of the non-fiction works now on display at the Appleton Public Library, was edited by Walter Havighurst as part of the American Vista series. It begins with an account of Jean Nicolet's exploration voyage in 1634 and gives an interesting commentary on Wisconsin's development.

Jack Kerouac, spokesman and prophet of the beat generation, has completed another volume, this one dealing with his wanderings in America, Canada and Mexico as he searches for freedom. "Lonesome Traveler," is the title.

Kate Smith Auto-Biography. The bloody fighting that characterized the war in the Pacific has been put into the larger picture of the war for "Victory in the Pacific 1943" by Samuel Eliot Morrison. It is the 14th volume in a series on the United States Naval Operations in World War II.

Other new non-fiction titles are "Retarded Children: God's Children," by Sigurd D. Petersen, a study of religion's role in care and training of retarded children; "Upon My Lips A Song," by Kate Smith, an auto-biography; and "Portable Newspaper Advertising" by Edmund C. Arnold, a guide to layout, copy and planning for retailers.

A generous dose of laughter is provided in "The Most of P. G. Wodehouse," by P. G. Wodehouse. This new fiction volume contains several of his choice short stories and "Quick Service," a new and complete novel.

"The Devil Inside," by Stephen Coontz, is the biographical novel of Dostoevsky. Dostoevsky's struggle for survival in physical, mental and emotional torment is illustrated by the fact that his literary accomplishments were not noted until shortly before his death.

The story of a boxer, defeated both in the ring and as a family man and father, is told in "The Circle Home," by Edward Headland. The man takes to the road, where his life becomes a series of impressions of old gymnasiums, bad hotels, freight cars and highways.

Other new fiction works on display are "The Eyes of the Panel," by Marcello Salaschi, the story

Bandits Get $700 From Farm Couple

CHETEK (AP) — An elderly farm couple was robbed of $700 Sunday night by two armed and masked men who bound their victims with belts and stockings.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, who are in their late sixties, told Barron County authorities that the men, carrying pistols, entered their home about 8 p.m. Mrs. Hayes was tied to a chair and her husband was placed in a bed. The men ransacked the house and found seven $50 bills.

The bandits drove off in Hayes' pick-up truck after having trouble starting the car. They had to return to the house to ask Hayes how to move the seat into reverse.

A son released his parents after returning home about 10:30 p.m.

and failed to save the popular Nixon. George Preston Marshall, owner of the club, confirmed after the game previous reports that Nixon's contract would not be renewed. He said Nixon, ninth of his coaches in a 24-season span at Washington, had been informed two weeks ago.

"I think he is a terrific man," Marshall said of Nixon. "Perhaps his greatest weakness is that he is too nice a man."

McPeak, 34, a balding, former Pitt and Pittsburgh Steeler end, is a man of mystery. Friends said he wanted to avoid embarrassing attention while his friend Nixon, who hired him, was in a difficult situation.

Discusses Post

Marshall ruled out anyone from the college level as his next coach. He would not rule out anyone on the Redskins' staff but said he had discussed the post with three men outside the organization.

Nixon, clearly pained, refused to say anything. Highly regarded by colleagues in the game, he turned down a personnel job with the Redskins and is a candidate for coach of the Minneapolis team that enters the NFL next year.

This was his second season as coach of the Redskins, who had a 3-9 record in 1959.

Lombardi paused briefly, then closed with, "I just want to leave one thought with you. A great part of this team was due to one man who is no longer with us, Jack Vainisi. May God rest his soul. . . Thank you."

Just five minutes earlier, at a 34, the huge throng had cheered on its newly-crowned champions an explosive salute that echoed through the frosty night — and all but drowned out the Packer-Lumberjack band, which had struck up "Packer Down the Field" with valiant vigor as their favorite sons dehired from their house DC6-B at the rear of the platform.

Towns Seek More Power In Legislature

Lobby Calls Special Meeting to Rally Support for Drive

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The town board lobby has summoned an emergency meeting at Wisconsin Rapids Dec. 28 to rally support for a new drive in the state legislature to increase the legislative representation of the non-urban districts of the state.

Towns have been asked to send delegates to the meeting to discuss methods to persuade the legislature to enact a new legislative apportionment law that would increase the membership of both the senate and the assembly.

Purpose would be to add rural legislators, without subtracting from the delegations of the urban counties of the state.

Ben Harneman, secretary and lobbyist of the group, has drafted a plan to increase the number of state senators from 33 to 39 and the number of assemblymen from 100 to 120.

Requires Amendment

Such a change would require an amendment of the state constitution, which now limits the assembly to 100 seats and provides that the senate membership cannot exceed one third the membership of the lower house.

Hanneman said his plan would provide that no assemblyman would represent more than two counties.

He complained that urban interests are now campaigning for apportionment plans that would remove one rural state senator in order to provide more representation to populous eastern and southern Wisconsin and transfer lead to districts as large as four assemblymen from the rural west and north to give Milwaukee and Waukesha counties two extra seats each.

(A Legislative Council advisory committee has recently completed lower house seats each.)

Auto Industry Studies New Sales Gimmick

American Motors To Offer Rebates Of Savings Bonds

Detroit, Mich. (AP) — The auto industry is studying without official comment George Romney's newest gimmick to sell more American Motors cars by offering buyers rebates of government savings bonds.

Romney announced the plan Thursday with a flourish in a news conference in a plush New York hotel. He called it sharing progress with the neglected consumer and invited the rest of the auto companies to join him.

Apparently there will be no mad rush to do so.

Help Sales

Privately, various auto men expressed the opinion that Romney's plan will create considerable interest and probably help his sales.

Romney is highly regarded by his competitors, both personally and as a shrewd businessman. He is credited with singlehandedly selling the American public on the idea of a compact car—the size which currently is accounting for at least 30 per cent of all automobile sales.

Basically, the program calls for a rebate of one $25 bond to each customer for each 10 per cent increase over last year's sales which American Motors accomplishes in the four months starting Dec. 1.

If sales increase 10 per cent, every buyer gets one $25 bond. If the increase is 20 per cent, $50 in bonds; 30 per cent means $75 in bonds; 40 per cent means $100 in bonds and 50 per cent or more means $125 in bonds.

The plan applies equally to buyers whether they purchase the imported Metropolitan or the much larger Ambassador V-8. But there are certain restrictions.

These include: Delivery must be made between Dec. 1 and March 1. The maximum payment is $25 in bonds. The program applies only in the United States. A rebate is not applied to cars bought by the government.

Former Game Warden Found Dead in His Bed

Arthur Hill, 55, Retired in September Because of Ill Health

CHILTON—Arthur Hill, 55, conservation warden here for 24 years, was found dead in his bed about 2 a.m. when the animal apparently smelled smoke seeping into the first floor apartment.

Hill retired as conservation warden in September. He was ailing with asthma and arthritis.

He was born May 6, 1905, in Wausau and came to Chilton with his family as a boy. He was a graduate of Chilton High School.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Boniface Episcopal Church with burial in Hillside cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, a father, Emil of Chilton, a daughter, a brother and two sisters.

Dog Saves Family From Home Fire

SUPERIOR (AP)—Their dog's sensitive nose saved a Superior family and several other occupants of an old two-story building when fire razed the structure this morning.

The dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Hackett, napped the warden here for 24 years, was found dead in his bed about 2 a.m. when the animal apparently smelled smoke seeping into the first floor apartment.

The Hacketts, their four children and the pooch, plus a half dozen other residents escaped into near-zero weather after Hackett roused the other tenants.

Only the walls of the brick structure remained standing after a general alarm that brought all off-duty firemen in to help fight the blaze. Albert Gee, Superior fire chief, estimated the damage at $25,000 and said a defect in the heating system was believed responsible for the fire.

He is survived by his widow,

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H*. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Tension More Injurious to Ulcers Than Light Exercise

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Do setting up exercises—bending, stretching, twisting, bicycling—harm duodenal ulcer? I have always done some sort of exercise in the morning. I feel more alert to start the day's work.

"However, for the last six months, since I knew I had an ulcer, I have stopped all that. I do a great deal of walking because I enjoy it. I have always played a lot of golf, but have stopped that, too, because I am so anxious to heal the ulcer.

"I would like to go back to exercises and golf if they will not interfere with the healing of the tension, not the exercise, that matters."

There are varying degrees of ulcers, naturally—some big, some

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had small; some new, some of long standing. By the same token, ulcerers of the duodenum take varying times to heal.

Order $10,000 Bond in Auto Larceny Case

Lynn Jensen, 17, Menasha, Waives Preliminary

OSHKOSH — Lynn A. Jensen, 17, 801 Higgins Ave., Menasha, waived preliminary hearing and was ordered to plead at 10 a.m. Tuesday to charges of grand larceny and auto theft.

Municipal Judge Arnold J. Care set bond at $10,000 and Jensen was jailed in default of the bond. He was returned Saturday from Wichita, Kan., where he had been arrested along with a 16-year-old Appleton girl.

Jensen is charged with taking $497 from the Zephyr Filling Station at 700 Main St., Menasha, which is owned by Peter Gehrk, and taking a car parked at the station which is owned by Al Janzen, a son-in-law of Gehrk.

The two offenses occurred Nov. 30 and the car was found abandoned on Highway 45 near Brooks Corners, north of Oshkosh.

Jensen had left a note indicating that he and the girl were going off to get married. They were found last week at Wichita, Kan.

Neenah Man Guilty in Fracas With Neighbor

OSHKOSH — Harold J. Marquardt, 32, 245 Gruenwald Ave., Menasha, pleaded guilty this morning of disorderly conduct. Sentencing was deferred until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

County police said Marquardt was involved in a fracas involving a neighbor and the former husband of the neighbor. He was arrested at 4 a.m. Saturday.

Forfeits for Being Drunk, Disorderly

NEENAH — Jerald W. Heuer, 19, 302 Main St., forfeited $14.20 at the police station for being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested at 12:01 a.m. Sunday on E. Doty Avenue.

House Entered

NEENAH — About $8 to $10 was taken from two wallets in an entry at the Robert Sparks home, 238 E. Doty Ave., early Saturday morning. The Sparks family was asleep upstairs and did not hear anything, they reported to police Saturday morning.

Approval of the project was given by the mission board after several meetings at Ft. Leonard Wood. No sufficient families indicated interest and now is in advanced weapons test in the project.

Winneconne also has an office for its Civil Defense organization and a paid part time secretary, Mrs. Merriman Bersch. Mrs. Bersch coordinates activities and is in charge of all records.

One of the big tasks that was recently completed was the cataloging of all residents of Winneconne. The name of each person is on record, the type of house they live in, number of people in each house, number of rooms and the religion of each person.

This was done, Campbell said, to facilitate finding lodgings for the homeless. The religious denomina- tion was requested, Campbell said, because they felt it would be better to house someone with another person of the same religion.

Oh Lord, prepare me for this wedding day.

Blessed Art Thou, Mary

Anna Prepares Her Beloved Daughter for Wedding Day

BY GEORGE CORNELL

Thou art all fair, my daughter, all grace and comeliness. Thy skin is sullen to the touch, thy form like the work of a skilled craftsman. How gentle thou art, my child, how sweet the perfume of thy hair.

Adoration welled in the heart of the girl's aging mother, Anna, as she combed and smoothed her daughter's long, dark tresses. It was a deep-felt morn. For on this day, Mary would be espoused.

How beautiful she is, and pure of soul. Ah, beloved daughter, thou art the treasure of this house. There is no spot on thee. Thy innocence is a garden enclosed, and thou seem overyoung for wifehood.

Yet Mary was 15, the proper age for taking a husband. She sat now on a stool, in dewey-eyed reveries, as Anna arrayed her for the gate of the fold, she met him, and threw her arms about his neck.

Devote Child to Lord

"Now I know that the Lord God hath greatly blessed us," she exclaimed. "Behold, she that was barren hath conceived!"

The tears of the aging couple, their faces pressed close, flowed together.

"As the Lord my God liveth," Anna had vowed, "whatever I bring forth, whether it be male or female, I will devote it to the Lord my God."

Jubilant and singing praises, Joachim had made a special pilgrimage to Jerusalem, to offer 100 goats, 10 lambs without spot or blemish and 12 tender calves to the Lord in thanksgiving.

Brought Forth Female

Their lack of issue had sorely afflicted Joachim, an otherwise large-spirited and prosperous man. He owned vast numbers of sheep, the greatest herd in the Jezreel valley, and a splendid house in Nazareth.

Yet his affluence could not buy him a mate. His wife, Elizabeth, the midwife answered.

How swiftly the years had passed since then, and now the girl-child was to be married.

Anna's fingers trembled as she placed the ringlets of flowers on the crown of Mary's dark, shining head, and then straightened the folds of her woven white gown.

It was a difficult time for a mother. She stepped back to survey the girl's appearance, straining to keep the unreasoned sense of loss from her eyes.

Looking at her with an even, quizzically bright-cheeked and delighted, and she felt worn and old, yet girl, with glad heart and a smile on her face, she turned to her mother. "O God of our fathers, bless this child, and give her a name renowned for ever among all generations."

"Amen and amen," the assembly had cried. "So be it."

In keeping with their vow, when Mary was three years old, they had taken her to the Temple to dedicate her to the Lord's service.

They had arranged for her to study there, with other young virgins of well-to-do families, in the care of Anna's kinsman, the aged priest Zechariah, of the days of Abraham, and his wife, Elizabeth. It was they, after the death of Joachim, who had reared Anna, guide the child's upbringing.

Radiant in Spirit

Mary had grown radiant in spirit, rejoicing in worship, hymns and the sacred statutes, an example, and she felt worn and old, yet girl, with glad heart and a smile on her face, she turned to her mother.

"Bless this child, and give her a name renowned for ever among all generations."

Surely Israel had never brought forth so goodly and elegant a bride. Anna moved distractingly about the room, her head swimming with recollections, hopes and fleeting anxieties, as she directed the final preparations.

Two other servants had joined Judith in decorating the house, bringing out extra ornaments and setting out trays of powdered cheeses, fig cakes and other pastries for the long list of relatives who would come in a day-long succession.

It is not unusual for a mother to offer thy gifts," they said. "See that thou has not negat any seed in Israel."

Joachim had betaken himself to the desert for long periods of fasting and prayer. And then, at last, it had come to pass.

Anna sensed it, like a whisper in her soul, a stirring warmth in her flesh.

She hurried from the house in the twilight and saw Joachim coming from the fields with his sheep and goats. And he had left his staff behind him, and gavest her a son, Isaac.

Grief Burst Forth

Once, kneeling under a laurel tree, she noticed the branches break with the wind. At the

Haile Selassie Troops Hunt Rebel Forces

Revolt Crushed Reports Say, Dead Number About 2,000

BY HOMER SMITH

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie's loyal army today hunted rebel imperial guards who fled to the mountains after an abortive attempt to dethrone the 66-year-old monarch.

Army patrols marched through the streets of Addis Ababa and air force patrol planes dived overhead but the city otherwise was quiet, concerned mainly with burying its dead and tending its wounds. Officials estimated civilian and army casualties at 2,000.

A communiqué claimed the revolt, which broke out Wednesday while the emperor was visiting Brazil, was "quickly crushed by the Ethiopian army and people."

Swift Punishment

Swift punishment was promised for others attempting to overthrow the Ethiopian "king of kings."

Haile Selassie flew to Addis Ababa airport Saturday, then drove in a tank to Jubilee Palace. His primary residence, Guentah Palace, had been a rebel stronghold.

The government claimed it also was the scene of a rebel massacre. The rebels killed 15 government dignitaries and hostages and wounded 32 others before putting out the government said.

Haile Selassie's son, Crown Prince Asfa Wossen, 24, was exonerated from any part in the rebellion. The rebels forced the crown prince and other government leaders to make statements against Haile Selassie, the communiqué said.

Tricked Into Fight

The emperor's bodyguard, 5,000 soldiers who formed the nucleus of the rebellion, were exonerated by "treacherous leaders of the revolt" into thinking they were fighting for their ruler, the communiqué said.

Many rebel leaders were killed, the government said. Those being debated without a by-line, reportedly included the Frederick H. Bolard of Ireland, the assembly president, sum up the security chief.
